INTRODUCTION.

IN presenting to the public, "NEW-YORK AS IT IS, IN 1837," in connection with the CLASSIFIED MERCANTILE DIRECTORY, the Publisher has to acknowledge the many favours conferred, and the ready information generally given to make this volume complete. Encouraged by the favours bestowed on our previous attempts to furnish a convenient Manual for Citizens and Strangers, we were induced to render the present volume, which is the fourth year of publication, still more useful, by adding a general Classified Directory, which embraces all the principal firms and individuals transacting Mercantile, Professional, or Manufacturing pursuits, in New-York, Brooklyn, &c., alphabetically arranged under their respective kinds of business.

Great care and labour have been bestowed on this work to make it as correct and complete as possible; if errors or omissions have occurred, it will be our earnest endeavour to render it still more correct and useful in future editions. Persons giving information of errors or omissions, will confer a favour on the Publisher.

From a perusal of this volume it will appear, that while we are peculiarly favoured by our forms of government, and with institutions for the relief of both mind and body, under the control of benevolent individuals, which, to be appreciated, want only to be made known—it is to be regretted, that we have also mixing in society, those who appear to have no regard for any thing but their own selfish interests. Prompted either by pride or avarice, they by their sordid conduct, cause distress of both mind and body to thousands of their fellow beings.

The sad reverse which the City of New-York, and the country at large has recently experienced, owing to the derangement of our currency, and a too anxious desire to accumulate wealth, ought to teach us a lesson of moderation, and cause us, as a people, to avoid a repetition of such evils. Too long has the unfeeling usurer, the greedy speculator, and the selfish politician had the ascendancy. Let the poor and the middling classes of society, return to industrious and frugal habits, and learn wisdom from sad experience.

With these remarks, the Publisher respectfully submits this volume to the public, hoping it will be found useful, and meet with approbation.

NEW-YORK, MAY, 1837.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

OF THE

CITY AND HARBOUR OF NEW-YORK.

SITUATION AND EXTENT.

The City of New-York, the commercial emporium of the United States, is situated on New-York Island, formerly called Manhattan Island, (at the confluence of the Hudson or North River, with the strait called the East River, which connects Long Island Sound with the Atlantic Ocean. It is about equi-distant (or less than twenty miles) from the western extremity of Long Island Sound on the north-east, and the Atlantic Ocean on the south. The City Hall is in latitude 40 deg. 42 min. 40 sec. north, and longitude 74 deg. 1 min. 8 sec. west, from Greenwich. The City and country are of the same limits, comprising the whole island, which extends from the Battery on the south, to Kingsbridge on the north, $13\frac{1}{3}$ miles, or 71,700 feet. The average breadth is 1 mile and 3,220 feet, or 8,500 feet. The greatest breadth is on the line of 88th-street, and is 12,200 feet, or about $2\frac{1}{3}$ miles. The area of the island is about 14,000 acres.

On the north and east it is separated from Westchester County by Harlæm River, over which are three bridges, namely Harlæm, Macomb's, and King's bridges. The tide flows through this river or strait; the western termination of which, where it connects with the Hudson, is called Spuyten Duyvel's Creek. The strait called the East River separates the island from Long Island on the east. On the south is the bay or harbour; and on the west is the North, or Hudson River; with the state of New-Jersey on the opposite shore. The few small islands in the harbour are also attached to the City; the principal of which are Governor's, Ellis', and Bedlow's Islands; also, Blackwell's Island, in the East River, occupied by the City Penitentiary establishment, and Great Barn Island, near Hell Gate.

HARBOUR, &c.

The harbour of New-York is safe and commodious, its circumference being about 25 miles, and the largest vessels may come up to the wharves at the City. On the bar, at Sandy Hook, the depth of water, at high tide, is 27 feet, and at low water 21 feet; from thence to the City the channel is from 35 to 50 feet. The Light House at Sandy Hook on the New-Jersey shore, is distant 18 miles from the City; and vessels frequently anchor in the outer harbour, or Raritan Bay. The entrance to New-York harbour is called "The Narrows," between Staten Island on the west, and Long Island on the east, 8 miles from the City. Sands' Point Light House, on Long Island, is situated near the western extremity of Long Island Sound, 20 miles N.E. of the City. The harbour is but seldom obstructed with ice. The difference between high and low tides, at the wharves, averages about seven feet; and for the convenience of commerce several steamboats are employed in towing ships to and from sea. The principal commercial business is transacted on the east side of the City; the East River being the most convenient and safe part of the harbour. The width of the East River is from one third to one half of a mile to the opposite shore of Brooklyn, Long Island. The Hudson, or North River, is one mile in width to Jersey City, and a mile and a half to Hoboken, (New Jersey.)

FORTIFICATIONS.

The principal fortifications for the defence of the harbour are at the Narrows, about 8 miles from the City. On the eastern, or Long Island shore, are forts Hamilton and La Fayette, the latter of which, (formerly called Fort Diamond,) is built on a reef of rocks, two hundred yards from the shore, where the former is situated, and has three tiers of guns. The strait, or Narrows, is here about one third of a mile in width, and on the Staten Island, or western shore, opposite the two fortresses just named, are fort Tompkins and fort Richmond. The United States Government have expended large sums of money on these different fortifications, particularly since the last war with Great Britain, and they are now considered amply sufficient for the defence of this passage to the harbour. The principal fortifications on the East River are at Throg's Point, where is situated Fort Schuyler.

There are batteries on Bedlow's and Ellis' islands, on the western side of the harbour; and on Governor's Island, (which is distant 3,200 feet from the City at the Battery, and contains 70 acres,) are Fort Columbus and Castle Williams. The former is a strong work in the shape of a star, on the south side of the Island. The latter is on the north-west point of the island, built of stone, in a circular form, 600 feet in circumference, and 60 feet in height, with three tiers of guns. There is also a battery on the south-west side, commanding the entrance through Buttermilk Channel. There are barracks on the island for the accommodation of a considerable number of soldiers.

TELEGRAPH.

A Telegraph is established on the heights of Staten Island, communicating by signals with one in the City on Holt's Hotel.

DIVISIONS AND GOVERNMENT.

The City is divided into 17 wards, which are particularly defined in another part of this volume. Each ward elects annually an Alderman and an Assistant Alderman, who are formed into a Common Council of two boards. The Mayor is elected annually, in April, (agreeably to an amendment of the constitution,) by the people.

Formerly the Bridewell, is situated west of the City Hall, near Broadway; the above constitutes all the public buildings in the Park.

PENITENTIARY,

Situated on Blackwell's Island, is an immense stone edifice, erected a few years since. The main building is four stories high, surmounted by a square tower; two wings, each extending upwards of 200 feet from the centre building, are also four stories high. The interior is fitted up with rooms for the accommodation of the keepers, workshops in which the prisoners are obliged to labour, and numerous cells; the whole being constructed in the most substantial and secure manner.

ALMS HOUSE.

The new Alms House is situated at Bellevue, on the East River, two and a half miles from the City Hall, and is a spacious edifice of stone, with numerous buildings as appendages. The location is remarkably salubrious and pleasant. There are several farms on Long Island, attached to the Alms House establishment.

(For other public Buildings, see Index.)

GAS WORKS.

THE NEW-YORK GAS-LIGHT COMPANY

Have their works located at the corner of Canal and Centre streets, and have at present laid down, in the principal streets, 26 miles of iron pipes. The public buildings and stores which are supplied with gas by this Company, pay for the same at the rate of 70 cents per 100 cubic feet consumed. The expense of gas for a store, with four lights, is about $60 per year. (For capital, &c. see page 155.)

THE MANHATTAN GAS LIGHT COMPANY WORKS

Are located on the North River at the foot of Eighteenth-street. This Company have laid their main pipes through Eighteenth-street, Ninth-avenue, Hudson, Bleecker-street, Sixth-avenue, Waverly-place, Broadway, Bowery, Broome, Centre, and Grand-streets; and are now laying them through other important streets. (For capital, &c. see page 155.)

NEW-YORK AND HARLÆM RAILROAD COMPANY.

This Company was incorporated in 1831, and has since been so amended that its capital, originally $350,000, is now $1,150,000.

The route selected for its road is from Prince-street, in the Bowery, through the 4th Avenue, to Harlæm River, with a branch through One hundred and Twenty-fifth-street to Ninth Avenue, and thence to the Hudson River at Manhattanville landing.

The first running of the cars upon this road was in November, 1832, and they travelled no further than Fourteenth-street. In June, 1833, their route was extended to Murray Hill. In May, 1834, the route was further extended to Yorkville, where it has continued ever since. The number of passengers in the cars down to that date was about 125,000. From May to November, 1834, the number of passengers was 176,000, and the receipts from fare, $16,000. From 1st November, 1834, to 1st November, 1835, the number of passengers was about 400,000, and receipts from fare, $37,000. From the 1st November, 1835, to 1st November, 1836, the number of passengers was about 600,000, and the receipts of fare something above $52,000. In the year ending the 1st January, 1837, the amount of fare was $54,000.

When the route shall be extended through the tunnel over the beautiful embankment and bridge constructed to Harlæm, the number of passengers will, probably, greatly increase.

The tunnel commences at the southerly side of Ninety-first-street, and terminates at the northerly side of Ninety-fourth-street, and will be, when completed, 844 feet in length, 24 feet wide, and 21 feet high in the centre. Each end of the tunnel will be finished with a handsome stone facing, so as to give it a conspicuous and pleasing appearance. The embankment commences at One hundredth-street, and extends to One hundred and sixth-street. This will be a most substantial work, as the whole will be supported by slope walls of dry masonry. At the crossing of the streets there are handsome arched carriage-ways, supported by stone pillars. At the northern termination of the embankment, the bridge commences, extending from One hundred and sixth-street to One hundred and eighth-street.

This tunnel is said to be as spacious as any other excavation of solid rock made in modern times, not excepting the excavation of the Simplon, made under the Emperor Napoleon; and the approach to it at both ends through a rock, 52 feet in depth, is an object not less interesting than the tunnel itself.

There is scarcely to be found a more beautiful and picturesque scenery in any part of the world, than the view Hell Gate and its neighbourhood presents, in riding over the bridge and embankment north of the tunnel, at an elevation of thirty feet above the level of the avenue.

It is expected that this road will be travelled by the cars to Harlæm sometime in the month of July, 1837.

Passengers' Ticket Offices, at No. 241, Bowery; and at the corner of Eighty-sixth-street and Fourth Avenue.

SUPPLY OF WATER.

The City is destitute of a supply of good and wholesome water, and various plans have been proposed, at different times, for obtaining an adequate quantity of an element so essential to the health, convenience, and comfort of the citizens. The Bronx and Croton rivers have been suggested as sources of supply; also the Passaic, at Paterson, New Jersey. The quantity of water required for the supply of the City, is estimated at over four millions of gallons per day, or 20 gallons for each person, including manufactories, stables, &c. At an early period of the history of the City, it was found that the well water was deteriorating in goodness. The fact is noticed in an able report made by Mr. Weston in 1799. There are numerous wells, with pumps in all parts of the City; but the pump water is generally considered bad and deleterious in its character, south of a line from the Hudson River through Spring-street, to the Bowery and Third Avenue, and thence to Thirteenth-street and the East River. In the remaining parts of the City, it is generally indifferently good; but it is also annually losing its purity.

For washing, rain water is generally used by the citizens, most of the houses being provided with good cisterns. Many parts of the City are now supplied with water, for the table, brought from the upper wards in casks. On the East and North Rivers, in some instances, it is pure, and in others its goodness is but little better than the present well water. The tables of the wealthy are supplied from this source, while the poorer classes have to resort to such wells and pumps as are in their neighbourhood. It has been ascertained that there are now brought to the City daily by drays or water carts, 600 hogsheads, for which there is paid one dollar and twenty-five cents for each hogshead, (or about one cent per gallon, amounting to $750 per day, or $273,750 per annum, for water from that source. The sum paid for water is annually increasing, owing to wells and springs constantly losing their purity. Many of the large hotels pay from $200 to 450, annually, for water, and the smaller classes of boarding and private houses pay from $15 to $50, annually, for the same.

The shipping in the port are principally supplied with water from Brooklyn, Long Island, and a small quantity from New-Jersey and Staten Island. The supply required for the shipping is estimated, from careful inquiries, to amount to 415 hogsheads per day, or 129,850 hhds. per year, (8,183,895 gallons,) which at 31 and 50 cents per hogsheads, is $160 per day, or $50,080 paid per year.

MANHATTAN WATER WORKS.

In 1790 the Manhattan Company was incorporated, with a view to supply the City with pure and wholesome water. The charter is perpetual, and the capital over two millions of dollars, (see page 98,) the surplus funds being employed in banking.

CITY RESERVOIR.

The Corporation of the City, in order to provide a supply of water for a part of the City, for the extinguishment of fires, have recently caused the construction of an extensive reservoir, which is situated in Thirteenth-street, near the Bowery.

The diameter of the well, from which the water is procured, is 16 feet, its depth is 112 feet, 97 of which are excavated in solid rock; its bottom is 62 feet below common high tide. On the east side, and within 12 feet of the bottom of the well, there is a horizontal passage, 4 feet by 6, extending into the rock 75 feet; and on the west side, a similar passage, 75 feet long, with a branch 25 feet. The object of these excavations is to increase the quantity of water, which rises in the well to within 12 foot of the surface of the ground, and the whole contains 175,170 gallons.

From the well, the water is raised by a steam engine of 12 horse power, into an iron tank in a building of an octagonal form. The bottom of the tank is $83\frac{1}{2}$ feet above tide. It is 44 feet in diameter, $20\frac{1}{2}$ feet high, and will contain 233,169 gallons. From the tank the water is conducted into the mains by curved pipes, of 20 inches diameter. The total cost of the works, exclusive of pipes, was \$42,238; and the annual expense is \$3,165. From the reservoir, iron pipes, from 6 to 12 inches in diameter, have been laid down through many of the principal streets, to the extent of over 9 miles, or 47,066 feet, at an average expense of about two dollars per foot. (The cost of one mile of pipe, of 12 inches diameter, is \$11,245.)

By an experiment which has been made, it is ascertained that water from the City Reservoir can be thrown from the fire plugs over the houses in any of the lower parts of the City, or south of the reservoir, or in its vicinity.

PROPOSED SUPPLY OF WATER FROM THE CROTON RIVER.

Surveys of routes and estimates of the expense of bringing water to the City from the Croton River has been made by order of the Corporation. An Act passed the Legislature of the State, May 2, 1834, "to provide for supplying the City of New-York with pure and wholesome water," by which the Governor and Senate were authorized to appoint five citizens, to be called "Water Commissioners," who were to examine and consider all matters relating to the subject, causing surveys to be made, and adopting such plans as they might deem most advantageous. The said Commissioners have reported in favour of obtaining water from the Croton River, which has been approved of by the Common Council, and submitted to the voters of the City at the Charter election in 1835; 17,330 voted "yes," and 5,963 "no," leaving a majority of 11,367 in favour of supplying the City, as proposed, with "pure and wholesome water."

The stream which can be brought to the City in an aqueduct is estimated to afford a daily supply of 32 millions of gallons. The present demand of the City is probably not more than ten millions. The total length of the aqueduct, which it is proposed to construct of mason work, will be about 45 miles, and the estimated expense (exclusive of pipes in the City) is about five millions of dollars.

CEMETERIES AND MONUMENTS.

In 1823, a law was passed to prevent interments south of Grand-street, and a penalty of $250 fixed for each violation of the same.

Many of the churches have burying grounds and vaults in the upper part of the City, belonging to congregations of different denominations. An extensive cemetery has been laid out on the Fifth Avenue, near the three mile stone, containing ten acres of ground. Occasional interments take place in the vaults belonging to families attached to churches in the lower part of the City, the friends of the deceased paying the penalty of $250.

Among the numerous monuments in churches and churchyards, we may name the following: The monument to Bishop Hobart, in Trinity Church; to Thomas Addis Emmet, (an obelisk 30 feet high) in St. Paul's Churchyard, where are also the monuments to Major General Montgomery, and George Frederick Cooke, the celebrated tragedian. In Trinity Churchyard is the monument to Captain James Lawrence, who fell in the contest between the U. S. frigate Chesapeake and the British frigate Shannon, during the last war.

MAY DAY, &c.

The usual time for moving established by general custom in the City of New-York, is on the first of May. Tenants who intend vacating their premises are required to give the landlords notice the preceding quarter day, the first of February; then houses are engaged for the ensuing year, to be taken possession of the first of May; rent generally payable quarterly. To such an extent does this custom extend as to be a great evil, May-Day being proverbial for confusion, amounting to partial suspension of business. If tenants would insist upon leases for a number of years, the evil, in a measure, would be remedied.

Housekeepers are required by the laws of the Corporation to abate all nuisances about their premises; coal, ashes, and dirt of every description is required to be given to cartmen employed by the City authorities; chimneys are required to be swept every month, or else subject the occupant to fine in case of their taking fire; side-walks must be kept clean and unobstructed. Scavengers and chimney-sweepers are all licensed by the Corporation, and have regular rates of charging established by law.

STREETS.

Several streets have been widened and materially improved in appearance during the past year. Beaver-street has been extended through the Burnt District, intersecting Pearl at the corner of Wall-street; Mill-street has been connected with William-street in the same neighbourhood, and it is proposed to change the name of Mill to South William. Platt-street has been extended from Gold-street to William. Fulton-street has been widened on the south side between Broadway and Gold-street. Gold-street has been widened between Fulton and Frankfort streets. Spruce-street has been widened from Gold-street to Nassau. Chapel-street has been widened between Murray and Franklin streets, and it is proposed to change its name to West Broadway.

NEW-YORK UNIVERSITY,

Situated between Washington Place and Waverly Place, fronts Washington Square towards the west, forming a noble ornament to the city, being built of marble, and exhibits a specimen of the English collegiate style of architecture. (See Frontispiece.)

This building has just been completed, after a labor of several years; it is one hundred feet wide, and one hundred and eighty feet long. In front this oblong is divided into five parts—a central building, with wings flanked by towers, one rising on each of the four corners of the edifice. This central building or Chapel is superior to the rest in breadth, height, and character; and is somewhat similar to that of King's College, Cambridge, England; a masterpiece of pointed architecture, and the model for succeeding ages. It is fifty-five feet broad, and eighty-five feet deep, including the octangular turrets, one of which rises at each of the four corners. The two ends are gabled, and are, as well as the sides, crowned with an embattled parapet. The Chapel will receive its principal light from a window in the western end. This window is twenty-four feet wide, and fifty high. It has eight lights and two embattled transoms. The heads of the lights are cinque-foiled in a plain arch, and the divisions above are quatre-foiled. Over the head of the window is a drip-stone, with plain returns. From the central building, or Chapel, wings project right and left, and are four stories in height, flanked by towers of five, supported by angular buttresses of two stages, running above an embattled parapet, and are at the top themselves embattled. The windows in the wings have square heads, with two lights, a plain transom, and the upper division tre-foiled. The heads of the windows are labelled, and have plain returns. The lower range of windows is set on a tablet, which serves as a base, and the two ranges above are set on strings, which return around the turrets, and stop against the buttresses. The principal entrance is under the great western window, through a richly moulded and deeply recessed portal, flanked by buttresses of two stages, the upper stage set diagonally, and rising above an embattled parapet. The doors are of oak, richly paneled, and filled with tracery of open work, closely studded with bronze.

THE BURNT DISTRICT.

In the First Ward, bounded by Wall-street, the East River, Coenties-slip, and thence in an irregular line to the corner of William and Wall streets, embraces all the ground burnt over during the great conflagration of Dec. 16 and 17, 1835, when about five hundred stores and dwelling-houses were destroyed, many of them of the first class of buildings. The public buildings destroyed were the Merchants' Exchange and the South Dutch Church; the other buildings consumed were principally wholesale stores, which contained an immense amount of merchandise, most of which was burnt, amounting in all, including the buildings, to about eighteen millions of dollars.

This ground is now nearly all rebuilt on, most of the stores being occupied, many of which are entirely fire-proof, constructed in the most durable manner, principally of brick.

UNFINISHED EDIFICES.

THE MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE,

Now erecting in part on the site of the Exchange Building, which was destroyed by fire Dec. 17, 1835, embraces all the ground between Wall, William, Exchange-place, and Hanover-streets, covering the entire block.

The building, when finished, will be of the Grecian Ionic style of architecture, the exterior of which will be constructed of blue Quincy granite, in the most chaste and durable manner, three stories high, besides the basement. In front, on Wall-street, will be a recessed portico, with 18 massive columns, 38 feet in height.

The interior will be fitted up for a public Exchange Room, which will be 80 feet in diameter, having four recesses, making an extent of 100 feet in depth and breadth; the room is to be 80 feet in height, surmounted by a dome resting, in part, on eight Corinthian columns of white marble, 41 feet high, and lighted by a skylight 25 feet in diameter. There will also be rooms for the accommodation of public and private offices; the whole to be constructed so as to be entirely fire-proof, under the superintendence of Mr. Isaiah Rogers, the architect of the building.

CUSTOM HOUSE.

A new Custom House is now erecting on the site of the old one, at the corner of Wall and Nassau streets, extending to Pine-street. The following is a description of the contemplated building.

The building is to be 177 feet long, and 89 feet wide; and the form and order of the building to be similar to that of the Parthenon at Athens. It is to stand on a basement story, ascended by nineteen steps from Wall-street, and six steps on Pine-street. There are to be eight Grecian doric columns at each front, and fifteen columns and antæ on each side attached to the walls. There is also to be a second row of six smaller columns back of and parallel with those of the main front, leaving a space of ten feet between the two rows, and nine feet between the inner row and the front wall of the building. Back of the two extreme columns of the inner row there are to be two antæ, and six antæ attached to the walls of the rear front, leaving a space of eight feet and a half between the columns and antæ. There will thus be twenty-four outside columns, five feet eight inches diameter at the bottom, and thirty-two feet high, including the capital, and eighteen antæ on the two sides of the same height, five feet wide, and three feet nine inches projection from the walls. The six inner columns of the main front will be four feet eight inches diameter at bottom, and the antæ to correspond. The building is to be two stories high, except the great business hall, part of which is to be vaulted as high as the roof will permit, and its centre finished with a dome sixty-two feet in diameter. This hall will occupy the centre of the building, and will be one hundred and fifteen feet long, leaving a small vestibule at each end to enter from. It is to be seventy-seven feet wide in the centre part, which is a circle of seventy feet in diameter, with the length and breadth of the room extending beyond its circumference to these dimensions; and the four parts so extended beyond the circle are thirty-three and a half feet wide, leaving six rooms and three circular staircases in the four corners, the two largest rooms to be twenty-four by twenty-one feet each, besides a square staircase in the rear, and three vaults for papers at the two ends of each vestibule. The same division of the room is made in the second story. Nearly the same number, shape, and sizes of rooms are had in the basement, as above in the other stories, leaving all the area of the same shape and size as the great hall immediately about it; with the addition of sixteen fluted doric columns to support the vaulting and the pavement under the dome of the great hall.

HALLS OF JUSTICE.

This edifice is now in progress of erection, and nearly completed, on an extensive scale, occupying the whole of the block bounded by Leonard, Elm, Franklin, and Centre streets, (formerly the Corporation Yard,) and is 253 feet 3 inches in length, by 200 feet 5 inches in width.

The interior combines accommodations for the Courts of Sessions, Police, Grand Jury, House of Detention, Records, City Watch, District Attorney, Sheriff, Clerk of the Court, and other officers belonging to the different branches of the Institution, together with the necessary offices for cooking, washing, watering, warming, &c. The whole designed by Mr. John Haviland.

The four Facades, as well as the entrance hall, are executed in the Egyptian style of architecture, with Hallowell granite.

The principal front has a distyle portico of four columns, with palm-leaved capitals. Above the capitals are square dies, upon which rests the architrave, ornamented with a large winged globe encircled by serpents. The architrave is surmounted by a cornice, composed of a bold Scotia, enriched with reeded Triglyphs and a banded Torus; and which, being of the same height with that of the similarly embellished wings, forms with them one continued line. Moreover, the banded moulding of the cornice descends in the form of a roller on all the external angles of the edifice. Both the wings are perforated with five lofty windows, extending the height of two stories, and finished with diminished pilasters, which support a cornice over each, composed simply of a bold Scotia, enriched with a winged globe and serpents.

The lateral fronts on Leonard and Franklin streets have each two projecting Pylones or Porches, with two columns : the one on Leonard-street adjoining the principal front, is the entrance to the Debtors' ward, and the opposite one on Franklin-street is the entrance to the Police ward ; the other two corresponding porches next to Elm-street, form the carriage entrances to the House of Detention. These porches are 54 feet wide, and their columns and entablatures correspond with those of the principal front, but the caps and shafts of the columns are less enriched. The recess in both these lateral fronts is six feet, and is relieved by five windows corresponding in character with those of the principal front, but of less proportion and enrichment, the Scotia being finished with reeded Triglyphs only, instead of the winged globe and serpents. The approach to the windows on these fronts is guarded against by a neat railing in keeping with the architecture. The rear or front on Elm-street having no entrance or windows, is simply relieved by seven narrow recesses in imitation of embrasures, and a railing in the same style as those on the lateral fronts.

A terrace surrounds the whole inclosure, raised ten feet above the level of Centre-street, from which you ascend eight steps of a truncated and pyramidal form, to the platform of the portico, from which you ascend also twelve steps, between the intercolumniation of the rear columns to the entrance hall. This hall is 50 feet square and 25 feet high, supported by eight columns, ranged between two rows with their antæ placed on the opposite walls. These columns bear the character of an order taken from the colonnade of the temple of Medynet Abou. Attached to the antes opposite these columns, the architect originally designed to place the Egyptian caviatides, so highly spoken of by the French artists in Napoleon's great work on Egypt, published by Pauc-konche ; and he feels assured that the Board will yet be of his opinion, and finally adopt these splendid and imposing figures in this entrance hall, as nothing else will be wanting to perfect the edifice ; their capitals are ornamented with the leaves and flowers of the Lotus. The floors are arched and laid in mosaic of an Egyptian character, governed in form by the compartments in the ceiling to which each belongs.

The principal courts, jury, witness, and other business rooms, are connected with, and leading into the entrance hall. On the left side are doors and passages communicating with the grand jury room, offices for register, clerk of the court, district attorney, and sheriff, debtors' ward and witness rooms; and on the right side are disposed the magistrates' offices, court, and witness rooms, watchmen's dormitories, police court, officers' rooms, and cells for nightly commitments. The centre leads to the court of sessions, (including two jury rooms, and separate gallery capable of containing an audience of 300 persons;) the whole well ventilated and lighted, and in a situation the least liable to be disturbed by the noise of the adjoining streets.

The Court of Sessions is connected with the House of Detention, and has external galleries of communication with every part of the building, independent of the public thoroughfares.

The House of Detention is a distinct and isolated building, 142 feet in length by 45 in width. It contains 148 cells, divided into four distinct classes for prisoners, including baths, and rooms for male and female, white and black, vagrants. The lower cells are 6 feet 9 inches wide, 11 feet high, and 15 feet long, diminishing 18 inches in length in each story; they are provided with cast iron water closets, hydrant, water cock, ventilators, and are warmed by Perkins' hot water pipes, (introduced and now in successful operation in the new Penitentiaries at Philadelphia and Trenton, by J. Haviland, architect.) The floors, and ceilings, and galleries are formed of slabs from the North River flagging; the doors and window jambs of iron; and the entire cells are otherwise finished on the most approved plan for security, seclusion, ventilation, economy of supervision and watching. The corridors are ten feet wide below, and widen at each story to 19 feet at the summit, affording a free ventilation and uninterrupted view of every cell door, from the observatory. A bridge leads across from the House of Detention to the prisoners' seat in the courthouse. By reference to the specifications and drawings, it will be seen that every part of the building is calculated to be executed in the most substantial and approved manner, with the best materials of their kind; and that no pains or expense is spared to effect all the desired objects of the Institution, with the aid, experience, and best talent that the country affords.

The building is generally fire proof by ceilings and floors of arched masonry.

The site on which the building is erecting, is formed of made ground, every precaution having been used to render the foundation secure by the introduction of iron ties, inverted arches. and heavy timbering. The whole area was excavated several feet below the water level, large timbers were placed together, and range timbers at right angles with these laid several feet wider than the respective walls.

Lastly, the whole superstructure to the roof has been erected during the past season, affording it sufficient time to come to its proper bearing. The several stories of the House of Detention with their weighty stone floors, have been completed some time, without showing any appearance of cracks or partial settlement.

BROOKLYN CITY-HALL,

Now erecting, is situated at the intersection of Fulton, Court, and Joralemon streets, occupying an entire block, forming a scalene triangle of 269 feet on Fulton-street, 250 on Court-street, and 222 on Joralemon-street. The exterior of the building is to be constructed of marble, and to have porticoes on the three fronts, with columns 36 feet 6 inches high, ornamented with capitals of the Grecian order, from the design of the Tower of the Winds, resting on a pedestal base, 17 feet high, which when finished, will be 62 feet from the ground to the top of the cornice. The angles are to be surmounted by domes, and rising from the centre of the building, will be a tower 125 feet high, which will be enriched with a cornice and entablature, supported with coryatides standing on pedestals. The whole will have a most splendid and imposing appearance, when finished.

The interior will be finished in the most chaste and durable style of architecture, calculated to accommodate the different public offices, courts, &c., attached to the City of Brooklyn. The whole arrangement is under the direction and superintendence of Mr. C. Pollard, the architect of the building.

The Bloomingdale Asylum for the Insane is pleasantly situated near the banks of the Hudson River, distant seven miles from the city, and has attached to it forty acres of land, laid out in gardens, pleasure grounds, gravel walks, and farm lots, well adapted to the unfortunate inmates.

The building is erected on one of the most elevated and healthy sites on the Island, and sufficiently retired for the comfort and convenience of the patients.

These are under the immediate superintendence of a skilful physician, who has devoted a number of years to this particular branch of medical science, and has visited the various lunatic establishments in England, France and Italy; examining the condition of the patients, and inquiring minutely into the mode of treatment pursued therein.

The ordinary affairs of the house are managed by a warden and matron, and a sufficient number of kind and careful nurses, are always ready to attend to the wants and comforts of the patients.

The whole establishment is under the general direction of a Committee taken from and appointed by the Board of Governors of the New-York Hospital. They, for the information of those who may be desirous of entrusting to the charge of this institution such of their friends as they think may be benefitted thereby, embrace this opportunity of stating, that, in all cases, before a patient can be received into the house, an order for admission must be obtained from two magistrates, who require for this purpose, the testimony of two credible witnesses, that the insane person is not fit to go at large.

This order must be presented to one of the undersigned, who will arrange for the board of the patient, the price of which varies according to circumstances; and will then give directions for his or her reception.

It is particularly requested that those who apply may, if practicable, come possessed with a history of the patient, and the immediate cause of the disease.

The ground on which the buildings are located, is elevated one hundred and fifty feet above the Hudson River, and from the cupola is a fine prospect of the Island, the North and East Rivers, and the adjacent country for fifty miles. The principal edifice is of stone, three stories high, 210 feet long, and 60 feet wide. The cost of the whole was over $200,000.

The numbers in the hospital report, given above, are exclusive of the maniac patients, of whom 121 have been admitted into the Bloomingdale Asylum, and, with 144 remaining on the 31st December, 1835, make 265 who have received the benefit of the Asylum during the past year.

Out of the patients above enumerated, 66 have been cured, 26 have been discharged improved, 16 others at the request of their friends; 14 have died; one eloped, and 142 remained in the Asylum at the close of the year.

Two hundred persons can be accommodated at the Asylum. The charges are from $2 to $10 per week, for board, &c. No free patients are admitted. Application for admission of lunatics must be made at the New-York Hospital, Broadway, where information can also be obtained, respecting the proper time and days, for visiting this interesting Institution.

James M'Donald, Resident Physician.

Application for admission of patients must be made to some one of the committee.

and Italy, in 1803, for the purpose of copying for the Academy the finest pictures by the great masters; and to collect casts from antique statues, and other pieces of sculpture; which, with the additions since made, form the most valuable collection of sculpture in the United States. Napoleon, while First Consul, presented Mr. Livingston, our ambassador to France, with a precious collection of casts, engravings, &c., for this Institution, which may be seen by the public during the season of exhibition. The annual exhibition opens in May, for three months; at other times, the rooms of the Academy are generally open for the exhibition of paintings of a high order of merit.

NATIONAL ACADEMY OF DESIGN,
(In Clinton Hall)

Instituted in 1826, by artists professing the four arts of design, viz.—Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, and Engraving. This Academy is the only Academy of Design in the United States, being founded on the same general principles as Academies of Design throughout the civilized world.

The Academic body consists of twenty-six Academicians, who are professional artists, and who may increase their numbers to fifty, chosen from a body of Associates. A body of Honorary Members, to whom are granted liberal privileges, are attached to the Institution.

Schools are established, and in progress of establishment, similar to those in Europe, where are taught drawing from the antique, and from the living model. A school of ornament is about to be commenced. Premiums are given annually to the successful candidates among the students. A fine collection of casts from the antique statues belongs to the Academy; among which are the Farnese Hercules, and the Antinous of the Braschi palace, both of colossal size, the only casts of these celebrated antiques in the western world.

Lectures are annually delivered by professors of painting, of sculpture, of anatomy, of perspective, of mythology, of historical composition, of miniature painting, of history, of wood engraving.

The annual Exhibition occurs in May, and consists of works by living artists only, and such as have never before been exhibited by the Academy.

The government is vested in a President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, and two members, constituting a Council, who are chosen at the annual election in May.

The American Bible Society was formed in 1816, for the sole object of increasing the circulation of the Holy Scriptures, without note or comment. Its seat of operation is at No. 115 Nassau-street, New-York, where Bibles and Testaments are printed, bound, and issued. More than two million of copies have been issued in twenty years. The Society is under the direction of a board of thirty-six Lay Managers, (Baptists, Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Episcopal Methodists, Reformed Dutch, and Society of Friends,) who meet once a month, without pay, and inspect and give directions in relation to all the affairs of the Institution. They publish a monthly account of all moneys received, and once a year give, in a printed report, a full history of all their proceedings.

The Society has now nearly one thousand Auxiliary Societies, scattered through every State and Territory in the Union. The Auxiliaries receive books at the very lowest rates at which they can be made, and when unable to buy are furnished with them gratuitously.

Any person becomes an annual member, and has a right to buy books at cost, by paying $3. A member for life pays $30, and a director for life $150.

The Society's houses, built by funds given for this object, cover one hundred feet square of ground. They contain the offices of the Secretary and the General Agent, the Managers' Hall, a large depository for books, a printing office with seventeen steam power presses, and an extensive bindery. If necessary, 1000 Bibles per day can easily be made. The Society keeps no permanent funds, but expends all contributed in circulating the Scriptures at home or abroad.

AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY.

Agents are employed in different parts of the country to awaken an interest in circulating these publications. In May, 1836, 43,647,590 Tracts, and other publications, embracing 711,853,750 pages, had been printed; and 39,042,676 publications, embracing 614,790,076 pages, had been circulated; of which 43,084,983 pages were grants. The Society also aids in circulating Tracts in foreign and pagan lands, especially where American Missionaries are labouring, having appropriated for that object, in the year ending April, 1835, $30,000; 1836, $35,000. AMERICAN BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS.

(Instituted, 1810. Agency in the Brick Church Chapel.)

The object of the Board is to propagatè the Gospel among unevangelized nations and communities, by means of preachers, catechists, schoolmasters, and the press.

The Board has under its care thirty-two missions and seventy-eight stations; connected with which are one hundred and four ordained missionaries, (seven of whom are regularly educated physicians, and six others have prosecuted medical studies to such an extent as to render them highly useful in that capacity,) nine physicians not ordained, eight printers, thirty teachers, catechists, farmers and mechanics, and one hundred and fifty-seven married and unmarried female assistants; making a total of three hundred and eight missionaries and assistant missionaries sent forth from this country. Four native preachers and fifty-one other native assistants, employed principally as teachers, are also laboring at the several missions. The number of converts received to the forty-one churches under the care of the missionaries of the Board among the heathen, since their organization, is about two thousand and four hundred, and the present number is about two thousand and forty-seven. At the schools established among the heathen, through the agency of persons sent forth by the Board, and taught by them, or by persons to a greater or less extent under their superintendence and direction, not less than eighty thousand pupils have been instructed since their commencement, and about twenty-one thousand are now in a course of instruction. Connected with the missions are eight printing establishments, including fifteen presses, at which and at other presses employed by the Board, not less than ninety millions of pages have been printed, in sixteen different languages, exclusive of the English. The languages are the following:—Italian, Greek, Armeno-Turkish, Arabic, Mahratta, Tamul,

SAILORS' SNUG HARBOR.

(Now located on Staten Island, near New Brighton.)

Founded in 1801, by Capt. Robert R. Randall, who devised his real estate and Mansion House, at the Sand Hill, Broadway, (now Eighth and Ninth streets,) to support an Asylum for aged and infirm seamen.

The Trustees named by him are the Mayor and Recorder of New-York, the Presidents of the Chamber of Commerce, and of the Marine Society, the senior minister of the Episcopal Church, and of the Presbyterian Church in Wall-street. The Trustees applied for an act of incorporation, which was granted in 1806; but the intentions of the donor were not carried into effect till a few years since, when inquiries were instituted by the Legislature. In 1830 and 1831, the whole of the Sailor's Snug Harbour estate, from Broadway to the Fifth Avenue, and Washington Square, was leased out in house lots for twenty-one years. With the income of these rents, the Trustees have purchased a farm of nearly one hundred and fifty acres of fine land, on the north side of Staten Island, half a mile west of New-Brighton; they have erected a large and convenient building, 65 feet by 100, where fifty or sixty disabled seamen find a snug harbor for life, with every want supplied, and laboring only enough for their health and comfort. The building commands a fine view of the Bay of New-York, the Hudson River, and Newark Bay, and the Philadelphia steamboats pass it daily. The whole of the Sailor's Snug Harbor property is now supposed to be worth a million of dollars.

The Trustees of this Institution report to the Legislature that their receipts during the year 1836 amounted to $52,702 58, and their expenditures to $50,766 19. Their income from rents for 1837 they estimate at $33,265.

NEW-YORK INSTITUTION FOR THE INSTRUCTION OF THE DEAF AND DUMB.

(Incorporated, April, 1817.)

This institution commenced operations under its charter, by opening a school for the reception of pupils on the 12th day of May, 1818. Until the spring of 1829, the school was held in the building now called the New City Hall. At that time the pupils were transferred to a large building erected for the purposes of the institution, on Fiftieth-street and the Fourth Avenue, three and a half miles from the City Hall. Communication between the Institution and the city is rendered very easy, by the cars which pass on the Harlæm Rail Road, (Fourth Avenue,) every fifteen or twenty minutes in both directions.

The principal building occupied for the purposes of the Institution, is one hundred and ten feet by sixty, in the dimensions of its plan, and five stories in height, including the basement. It accommodates, with some inconvenience, the number of pupils (about one hundred and sixty) which the Institution embraces at present: with the teachers, the family of the Principal, and such other persons as are needed to assist in conducting the affairs of the establishment.

The original charter of the Institution being about to expire by limitation on the first day of April, 1837, it was extended by the Legislature, in the spring of 1836, for a period of twenty-five years.

The number of pupils who were members of the Institution in 1836, was one hundred and ninety-seven; the actual number present on the first day of January, 1837, was one hundred and sixty. One hundred and twenty of these are supported at the expense of the State of New-York, seven at the expense of the State of New-Jersey; four by the city authorities, one by the Supervisors of the county of Dutchess, five by the funds of the Institution, and the rest by their parents or friends.

The total number of admissions into the Institution to January 1, 1837, was 488. In May, 1836, the Central Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb at Canajoharie was closed, and the pupils transferred to the New-York Institute. The total number of admissions at Canajoharie, was 149. Total of both Institutions 637. Of these, 117 have been members of both schools, or more than once admitted to the same. Whence the number of deaf-mutes who have been under instruction in the State, to January 1, 1837, was 520. Of these, 283 were males, and 238 females:

193 were born deaf; 201 became deaf by disease, or accident early in life; of 117 the causes of their deafness are unknown; and 9 were both deaf from birth, and incapable of intellectual improvement.

There are at present one hundred and forty schools for the deaf and dumb in the world. There are five in America, viz. one in Hartford, Conn.; one in Philadelphia, Penn.; one in Columbus, Ohio; one in Danville, Ky.; and the New-York Institution, New-York city. Of these the New-York Institution is considerably the largest. There are two larger institutions only of the kind in Europe, viz. the Institution of London, containing 230 pupils, and the Royal Institution of Paris, containing 175. The National Institution at Groningen, Holland, contains the same number as that in New-York, viz. 160.

According to the census of 1835, the number of persons deaf and dumb in the State of New-York, was 1070, or one to every 2029 individuals. There is great reason, from various facts in possession of the Institution, to suspect the accuracy of the returns. A more just estimate of the deaf mute population of the State would be, at the smallest computation, 1200, probably 1300. The least number named would give one deaf mute to 1800 persons. The proportion in Europe is about one to 1550; throughout the world one to 1500.

ORPHAN ASYLUM.

Thirty years have elapsed since this charitable institution commenced its labours; and during that period of time there have been admitted 931 children; of whom 411 boys have been apprenticed to mechanics and farmers, 273 girls to trades, and as servants in private families, and 81 have died. Thirty is about the average number yearly bound out, and about the same number is yearly received. Present number of children in the Asylum is 173.

The object of this Institution is to relieve the widows and orphans of deceased firemen, and to assist sick or disabled members and their families. Upwards of seven thousand dollars were expended in deeds of charity under the direction of the Trustees, during the past year, and the claims on the fund are daily increasing.

The officers of the department are elected annually by the representatives of the fire engine, hook and ladder and hose companies, and fire wardens. The Board of Trustees of the Fire Department Fund consists of nine members, three being elected annually by the representatives.

COLONIZATION SOCIETY OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

(Founded in 1831.)

Auxiliary to the American Colonization Society, in conveying to Africa, with their own consent, the free coloured persons of the United States.

There are now established along the western coast of Africa, by American philanthropists, four distinct Colonies, supposed to contain nearly ten thousand inhabitants. In these are included the villages of Monrovia, Caldwell, Millsburgh, Marshall, and New-Georgia, which are immediately under the supervision of the Parent Society at Washington. The next settlement in order along the coast is Edina, situated near to the River St. John's, and probably about sixty miles south of Monrovia. This colony was founded by the Parent Society several years since, and has been subject to their jurisdiction until December last, when it was ceded, with the consent of the inhabitants, to the associated Colonization Society of New York and Pennsylvania. The colony at Bassa Cove is situated within a few miles south of Edina, and was planted in October, 1824, under the united patronage of the Societies of Pennsylvania and New-York, and is reinforced by expeditions sent alternately each year by these institutions. The location at Bassa Cove, whether we regard fertility of soil, or salubrity of climate, or the commodiousness of its harbour, is not perhaps inferior to any other on the coast of Africa; and it is expected that the contemplated college or high school will be erected in that vicinity. Cape Palmos lies on the margin of the ocean, in a southern direction, about two hundred and twenty miles from Monrovia. The colony at this Cape was founded by the Colonization Society of the State of Maryland, and they mention in their last annual report that "three years since this spot was a wilderness, with untutored savages for its inhabitants, and that it is now the boast of the western coast." The Colonization Society of Missouri have recently purchased an intermediate territory between Bassa Cove and Cape Palmas, at the River Sinon, and expect to send out their first expedition early in April; the Society of the State of Louisiana is making similar arrangements, and each Association has resolved to appropriate twenty thousand dollars a year, for five years, in sustaining their respective settlements; and the Colonization Society of Virginia, at their anniversary in January last, adopted a resolution to establish, "as soon as suitable funds can be obtained," a colony of their own, to be called New-Virginia.

In these various establishments there are now about twenty missionaries, either coloured or white, Methodists, Baptists, Episcopalians, and Presbyterians. There are also schools established in every settlement for the education of the children, both of the colonies and natives, and various printing presses. The inhabitants at the different stations are now turning their attention to the cultivation of the soil, and are represented in general as temperate, industrious, orderly, and rapidly advancing in improvement, intellectual and moral. At the various settlements a large proportion of the colonists are professors of religion, connected with different denominations of Christians, and are members of the Temperance Society, on the principle of entire abstinence. A weekly mail was established during the last autumn to run between Bassa Cove and Monrovia.

According to its constitution, "the object of this Society is the entire abolition of slavery in the United States. While it admits that each state, in which slavery exists, has, by the Constitution of the United States, the exclusive right to legislate in regard to its abolition in said state, it shall aim to convince all our fellow-citizens, by arguments addressed to their understandings and consciences, that slave-holding is a heinous crime in the sight of God, and that the duty, safety, and best interests of all concerned, require its immediate abandonment, without expatriation. The Society will also endeavor, in a constitutional way, to influence Congress to put an end to the domestic slave-trade, and to abolish slavery in all those portions of our common country, which come under its control, especially in the District of Columbia, and likewise to prevent the extension of it to any state that may be hereafter admitted to the Union."

It has nine state, and about one thousand minor auxiliaries. The business of the Society is conducted by an Executive Committee located in New-York. Its periodical publications are the Emancipator, issued weekly, the Human Rights and Anti-Slavery Record, monthly, and the Anti-Slavery Magazine, quarterly. Publishing Agent, R. G. Williams. This Society was formed in 1834. Its object is to benefit the poor through their own labor, and with this view

It is supported by voluntary contribution, and is justly considered one of the best of charities, as it has an undoubted tendency to elevate the characters of all who use its good offices. NEW YORK POST OFFICE.

The Post Office is situated in the Rotunda, fronting on Chambers street and City Hall Place.

Access to the Merchants' boxes is from City Hall Place, fronting Tryon Row, by a large door immediately in the rear of the newspaper delivery.

Newspaper office and delivery is in the East wing of the building, and fronts the entrance to the Merchants' boxes.

Mails and ship letters are received at the large door fronting City Hall Place;—newspapers at the door fronting Chambers street.

The Carriers' delivery is at the large circular window next to the general delivery, and fronts City Hall Place.

Editors are accommodated with boxes placed under the window of the newspaper delivery.

The general delivery, or that for alphabetical and advertised letters and the Ladies' window, are situated at the S. E. corner of the new building, lately erected in the rear of the Rotunda.

* Subject to the rate of exchange on London.

† This is 10 15-32 pence, not cents, as 10 pence sterling is taken at the Custom-house for 20 cents.

NOTE.—All currencies not fixed by law, will be taken according to the American Consul's certificate of their intrinsic value, compared with the American dollar, which must accompany the invoice.

The office is open every day, (except Sundays,) from 8 A. M. to 7 P. M., and on Sundays from 9 to 10 A. M. and from 12½ to 1½ P. M.

The business of the office is so arranged as to define the duties of each employed in it. There are four general divisions, viz: City delivery, Forwarding department, Newspaper distribution and delivery, and Letter Carriers' department.

The City delivery is under the superintendance of Courter Goodwin, the senior Clerk, (who has the general charge of the office during the absence of the Post Master) and is assisted by several Clerks; he has charge of all letters received for assortment and delivery to the merchants and others who have boxes, for the Carriers' and general delivery.

The Forwarding department is under the direction of Joseph Benedict, who superintends the general distribution of all mails and letters to be forwarded to various parts of the Union; he is assisted also by several Clerks, whose duty is to rate, stamp, and make up all the mails.

The Newspaper distribution is carried on by several Clerks, each of whom is assigned a particular branch of the distribution of all newspapers by mails, comprising the Northern and Western, Eastern and Southern districts. They also put up and despatch all the Letter and Newspaper mails.

The distribution and delivery of newspapers for the city, that is, for the Merchants' boxes, Carriers, Citizens and strangers, is conducted by David Brown, and an assistant.

The Carriers' department is placed under the direction of Elias Lynch, who regulates the accounts of all the carriers, and superintends their general operations.

LOWER OR BRANCH OFFICE.

This establishment has been in operation since the first day of January, and is superintended by Jamison Cox; he is assisted by several Clerks, who receive from the upper or main office, such letters and newspapers as are to be delivered from the Merchants' boxes and the alphabet.

It is situate at the N. W. c. of William st. and Exchange Place, and is opened and closed at the same hours as the main office, and receives such letters as may be deposited there for transmission by the various mails.

Jonathan J. Coddington, Post Master.

MAILS.

The Great Northern Mail, by Steamboat, on the Hudson river, closes at 3½ P. M. daily.

During Steamboat navigation, Extra Mails for the principal offices on the Hudson river, close at 5½ o'clock A. M.; also, mails for Schenectady, Utica, Rochester and Buffalo, close at the same time.

The Steamboat Mails for Newport, Providence, Boston, &c. close daily, (Sundays excepted,) at 3½ P. M.

The Great Southern Mail, via South Amboy, closes daily at 3½ P. M.

The Express Mail closes daily at 4 P. M.

All the above mails close at the Lower Office at the same hour, except the Express, which closes there at 10 minutes before 4 P. M.

The New Jersey Way Mails on the direct route to Philadelphia, via Newark, Rahway, New Brunswick and Trenton, closes twice each day, viz. at 6 A. M. and 2 P. M., including a mail for Philadelphia, which closes at 6 A. M. daily.

The Western Mails by Steamboat to Newburgh, via Monticello, Binghamton, &c., and the mails for Ithaca, Owego, &c. are closed at 3 P. M. daily at both offices (except Sundays.)

The Eastern Mails, via New Haven, Hartford, Boston, Portsmouth, Portland, &c., close daily at 5½ A. M.

The Eastern Land Mail, via Stamford and Bridgeport, closes daily at the same hour.

RATES OF POSTAGE.

Single Letters.—Any distance not exceeding 30 miles, six cents. Over 30, and not exceeding 80 miles, ten cents. Over 80, and not exceeding 150 miles, twelve and a half cents. Over 150, and not exceeding 400 miles, eighteen and three quarter cents. Over 400 miles, twenty-five cents. Double Letters, or those composed of two pieces of paper, are charged with double these rates. Triple and Quadruple Letters, are charged accordingly. Packets or Letters composed of one or more pieces of paper, or one or more other articles, and weighing one ounce avoirdupois, quadruple those rates, and in that proportion for all greater weight. Ship Letters, not carried by mail, six cents. Each Newspaper, carried not over 100 miles, one cent. Over 100 miles, one and a half cents. But if carried to any Post Office in the state in which it is printed, whatever may be the distance, one cent. Periodical or regular Pamphlets, not over 100 miles, one and a half cents. Over 100 miles, two and a half cents. Not Periodical, not over 100 miles, per sheet, four cents. Over 100 miles, six cents.

✉ Letters going out of the United States, must be paid for when lodged in the Post Office, except for Upper and Lower Canada, which are forwarded to the Lines without being paid for.

Every printed pamphlet or magazine, which contains more than 24 pages on a royal sheet, or any sheet of less dimensions, shall be charged by the sheet, and small pamphlets, printed on a half or quarter sheet of royal or less size, shall be charged with half the amount of postage charged on a full sheet; and there shall be printed or written on one of the outer pages of all pamphlets and magazines to be sent by mail the number of sheets they contain; and if such number shall not be truly stated, double postage shall be charged.

Letters and Newspapers are delivered out of the Office every day, (except Sunday,) at all hours, from 8 o'clock A. M. to 7 P. M., and on Sunday, from 9 to 10, and from 12½ to 1½ P. M.

Newspapers, to be forwarded by mail, should be enclosed in a cover, and left open at one end, and the number of free papers, and those for subscribers respectively endorsed on each packet; and all newspapers, for each Post Office, should be enclosed in one package, provided they do not exceed twenty in number. If a letter, or memorandum in writing, is contained in any newspaper, the person who deposits the same forfeits five dollars, and the package becomes liable to letter postage.

Letters to be sent by mail, should be addressed to the places of their destination in the clearest manner; they should always be directed to the nearest Post Office, if the person to whom addressed does not reside where there is an office, and the name of the state ought not to be omitted. Letters are often missent, from their ambiguous direction. A punctual attention to this rule may prevent delays and miscarriages.

If an abatement of letter postage be claimed, the letter must be opened in the presence of the Post Master, or one of his assistants; and if such letter should, instead of being overcharged, happen to be undercharged, the deficiency must be made up by the applicant.

All letters which are lodged to go by the British Packets, should be distinguished by writing, per packet, for there are places of the same name in the United States, similar to those in Europe.

Persons calling for letters that are advertised, are requested to ask for advertised letters.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRES.

There are at present five Theatres in the City, as follows:

PARK THEATRE,

Situated in Park Row, was erected in 1798, and was burnt May 24, 1820, and, with the exception of the walls, which were left standing, was rebuilt and opened in August, 1821. The dimensions are as follows: Front, 80 feet; depth, 165 feet; height, 55 feet to roof. The Green Room is in a wing in the rear, on Theatre Alley. The stage is 38 feet wide in front, and 70 feet deep; and the height to the ceiling is 40 feet. The number of boxes is 42, namely, 14 in each tier. This Theatre is calculated to contain 2,400 persons.

The present prices of admission are, for the Boxes, $1; Pit, 50 cents; Gallery, 25 cents.

Edmund Simpson, Manager.

THE AMERICAN THEATRE.

(Bowery, between Bayard and Walker streets.)

Was erected in 1826, and opened October 16, 1826, within six months from the time the building was commenced. It was burnt in May, 1828, and immediately afterwards rebuilt, and re-opened in August, 1828. Again burnt down Sept. 22, 1836; rebuilt and finished, January, 1837. The new building is one of the finest specimens of Doric architecture in the City; the front being constructed after the model of the Temple of Minerva at Athens. The interior is elegant, and fitted up in a superior style. The building is 75 feet front on the Bowery, and the depth to Elizabeth-street is 175 feet; height of the building to the cornice, 58 feet. The Pit extends under the Boxes, and is capable of containing 300 persons more than that of Drury Lane, London; the dome and proscenium are all practicable, and can be lowered in half an hour; the side proscenium, including the balcony boxes, are so constructed that, by a piece of ingenious machinery, they can in an instant be moved back so as to throw open the entire stage for processions, &c.

Prices of admission—Boxes, 75 cents; Pit, 37½ cents; Gallery, 25 cents.

W. Dinneford, Manager.

FRANKLIN THEATRE.

(175 Chatham-street.)

This Theatre, recently erected, was first opened in 1835. It is pleasantly situated in Chatham-square, near the corner of James-street, and is a popular and much frequented place of amusement.

Prices of admission—Boxes, 50 cents; Pit, 25 cents.

NATIONAL THEATRE.

(Late Italian Opera House.)

The building is on the N. W. corner of Church and Leonard-streets, and covers 99 feet front and rear, and 150 feet in depth. The stage is 40 feet wide, and 70 feet deep. A portion of the house, 20 feet wide, and 150 feet long, on Leonard-street, is appropriated for a spacious saloon, coffee rooms, dressing rooms, and refectories.

A part of the pit is set apart for balcony and orchestra seats, and the residue furnished with arm-chairs and settees. There are eight private boxes under the first tier, on the wings of the pit. All the seats in the house are unusually spacious and comfortable, and capable of fully accommodating 1,200 persons.

Prices of admission—Boxes, $1; Pit, 50 cents; Gallery, 37½ cents.

James H. Hackett, Manager.

RICHMOND HILL THEATRE,

Situated at the corner of Varick and Charlton streets, in the Eighth Ward, consisting in part of the former country seat of Colonel Aaron Burr, on Richmond Hill, now altered and enlarged into a Theatre.

Prices of admission—Boxes, 50 cents, Pit, 25 cents.

MUSEUMS.

AMERICAN MUSEUM,

(Opposite St. Paul's Church, Broadway.)

This excellent institution was founded in 1810, by the late John Scudder, by whose arduous efforts, and the persevering exertions of its more recent proprietors, it has arose to its present high standing. It continues daily to improve in every department, by extensive and valuable additions of the works of Nature and artificial curiosities, from all parts of the world. Its immense collections are well arranged and beautifully displayed in four spacious Saloons, each one hundred feet in length; in addition to which another apartment has recently been added of still larger dimensions. The Grand Cosmorama of this establishment is truly a most splendid affair, which for extent of glasses and magnificence of views, is not surpassed in this or any other country. The views embrace a great variety of subjects, and were all executed expressly by Italian artists of eminence in their profession. No labour or expense has been spared to render this establishment well deserving a continuance of that liberal and distinguished patronage it has always received. The building is very high, and from its observatory may be enjoyed some of the finest views in the City, and of the beautiful bay and surrounding country. The halls are well warmed and ventilated, and at evening brilliantly lighted with gas, altogether forming a very inviting agreeable lounge, and at the same time, a place for serious contemplation and amusement, to those who delight in the study of the wonderful works of Nature.

Admittance, 25 cents—children, half price.

PEALE'S MUSEUM AND GALLERY OF FINE ARTS.

(Broadway, opposite the Park.)

This establishment was founded in the year 1825, and has increased with astonishing rapidity. It contains four spacious apartments, which are arranged in the following order: The 1st contains specimens of Natural History in all its branches, and for beauty of arrangement, and the exquisite style in which the articles are mounted, renders it one of the most interesting places of public amusement in the country. The 2d is a large and valuable collection of Paintings, by eminent artists, amongst which may be particularly mentioned a Portrait of Napoleon, by Le Fevre; a Magdalen, by Le Bron, together with Portraits of at least 150 celebrated citizens and foreigners. The 3d contains a very superior Cosmorama, several Wax Figures of good workmanship, Fossils, Shells, Minerals, and Miscellaneous Curiosities. It would be impossible to enumerate the principal articles of interest in the establishment, but it would be unjust to the enterprising proprietor, not to name the Egyptian Mummy, the tattooed head of a New Zealand Chief, and the living Anaconda, all of which have been procured at a very great expense. The 4th is a Lecture Room, in which, during each evening throughout the year, a succession of interesting amusements take place.

BATHS.

The principal Baths, for the accommodation of strangers and citizens, are the following:

Arcade Bath, 39 Chambers-street.

Washington Bath, 533 Pearl-street.

Besides many others of less note.

The sea water Baths are conveniently arranged, and are much frequented during warm weather. The principal Baths are at the Battery, and near Murray-street, on the North River.

FASHIONABLE RESORTS.

In the City, and its vicinity, are numerous places of resort, where the citizen and stranger may retire from the bustle of the City, and the fatigues of business.

THE BATTERY.

This beautiful promenade is situated at the south-west end of the island, and junction of the North and East Rivers, and possesses attractions unsurpassed, perhaps, by any other similar place of resort in the world, justly commanding the admiration of every visiter. It is in full view of the bay and surrounding scenery of Long Island, Staten Island, New Jersey, and the islands in the harbour. From no one point can a better idea be formed of the magnitude of the commerce of the City. The numerous ships, steamboats, and small vessels, that are constantly entering and departing from the port, forming a scene of stirring interest. Of the bay itself, we deem it appropriate in this place to quote the language of a late English tourist.

“I have never seen the bay of Naples, I can therefore make no comparison; but my imagination is incapable of conceiving any thing more beautiful than the harbour of New-York. Various and lovely are the objects which meet the eye on every side; but the naming them would only be to give a list of words, without conveying the faintest idea of the scene. I doubt if even the pencil of Turner could do it justice, bright and glorious as it rose upon us. We seemed to enter the harbour of New-York upon waves of liquid gold; and as we dashed past the green isles which rise from its bosom like guardian sentinels of the fair City, the setting sun stretched his horizontal beams further and further, at each moment, as if to point out to us some new glory in the landscape.”

The Battery extends somewhat in the form of a crescent, from the termination of Broadway, Greenwich, and Washington streets, on the north-west, to Whitehall-street, on the east, covering an area of nearly 11 acres, and laid out in grass-plots and gravel walks, shaded with trees. The exterior, fronting the harbour, is built up with hewn stone ; and on this side is a paved walk, with stone posts connected with a neat open railing. An expensive iron railing, with gateways, extends along the interior front.

This favourite promenade was originally a fortification, thrown up by the Dutch, and planted with cannon, from which circumstance it derives its name. Its bounds have been much enlarged by filling in, and for many years it has been used as a public walk, and constantly fanned as it is by the breezes of the ocean, no more agreeable and healthful retreat, from the heat of the City, can be found during the summer months.

CASTLE GARDEN.

On a mole, connected with the Battery by a bridge, is situated Castle Garden, originally erected for a fortification, and used for that purpose until 1823, when it was ceded by the United States to the Corporation of this City, since which it has been leased for a place of public amusement or recreation. On the top of the walls, a walk, covered by an awning, has been constructed, from whence a fine view of the harbour and adjacent scenery is obtained. Within the walls over ten thousand people may be accommodated, and concerts and fire works are occasionally given.

VAUXHALL GARDEN

Is situated near the junction of the Bowery and Broadway, fronting on the former, and was formerly a place of great resort in summer. On the evenings of public days, fire works and other entertainments were exhibited ; but by the late improvements in that part of the city, particularly by the extension of Lafayette-Place through the Garden, its dimensions have been much lessened, and its attractions weakened.

NIBLO'S GARDEN,

(Corner of Broadway and Prince-street.)

Is one of the most fashionable places of resort in the city, during the summer months. It has been laid out with great taste, and when open to the public, is handsomely lighted, and decorated with paintings, mirrors, &c. The walks are bordered with shrubbery and flowers in great variety. Fire works are occasionally exhibited; and in the saloon, which is a very tasteful and airy building, theatrical and musical entertainments are given.

OTHER PUBLIC GARDENS.

New-York Garden, Broadway, between Leonard and Franklin streets.

Cold Spring Garden, between Greenwich and Washington streets, corner of Le Roy-street.

East River Garden, near Corlaer's Hook.

FAVOURITE EXCURSIONS

ON THE ISLAND OF NEW-YORK AND ITS VICINITY.

HARLÆM and YORKVILLE; the conveyance to the above places on the island of New-York, are both frequent and reasonable, either by the Macadamized road on the Third Avenue, or on the Rail-road. The Harlæm Rail-road, commences in the Bowery, near Prince-street, and runs along the Fourth Avenue to Harlæm, a distance of 7½ miles. Cars run on it constantly, stopping whenever any of the passengers wish to get out; usual fare, 12½ cents.

BLOOMINGDALE and MANHATTANVILLE, on the Island, are also places of great attraction; the roads are good, and besides private conveyances, stages leave the Bowery, corner of Bayard-street, several times a day for both of the above places.

ISLANDS, contiguous to New-York, and under the jurisdiction of the City authorities are Governor's, Bedlow's, and Ellis's Islands, in the Hudson River, included in the First Ward of the City, all of which belong to the United States' government, and are occupied for military purposes. Blackwell's, Great Barn, and Randell's Island, in the East River, forming part of the Twelfth Ward.

Blackwell's Island belongs to the city, on which is situated the Penitentiary.

HOBOKEN, New-Jersey, opposite New-York, where the North River is about a mile and a half wide, is a favourite resort for the citizens during the summer. Steam ferry-boats run from Barclay-street and Canal-street, New-York, to this place, once in every twenty minutes or half hour, during the day; and the fare, in summer, is but $6\frac{1}{4}$ cents. Near the ferry is a public house, in front of which is a fine lawn, where seats are provided for visitors to enjoy the cool breezes which prevail during the warmest weather, and the fine prospect which the place commands of the city and harbour—north of the house there is a circular railway, on which are carriages propelled by the passengers for exercise and amusement. The grounds along the river, for more than a mile, are the property of the Messrs. Stevens, who permit a free public access to them. From the lawn a shaded gravel walk extends on the elevated and rocky bank of the river for about a mile, at the termination of which is a grove, called the Elysian Fields, where a handsome Pavilion has been erected, and from whence is a fine view of the North River and the opposite city. An excavation has recently been made in the solid rock under the bluff about one mile north of Hoboken, near the river, which attracts considerable attention, it is appropriately named the Sybil's Cave.

BULL'S FERRY, $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles, and Fort Lee, 10 miles north of the City, on the Jersey shore, are both much frequented during the summer months; Steamboats leave for the above places almost hourly, from the foot of Canal-street, affording a cheap and pleasant excursion.

CITY OF BROOKLYN. From Brooklyn Heights, which overlooks the East River, and part of the City of New-York, is one of the most stirring views imaginable—the junction of the North and East Rivers, the fortified Islands in the vicinity, and the shipping in the harbour, are all in full view.

The United States Navy Yard is on the east side of Brooklyn, on the Wallabout Bay; where visitors can easily obtain admission. Brooklyn, although not possessing many attractions to the stranger, is fast increasing in wealth and numbers; the increase in real estate within the last few years is unparalleled. The whole of the unsettled part of the city is about being surveyed and laid out into streets and avenues similar to the Island of New-York. The Long-Island Rail-road commences at Brooklyn, and, when finished, will extend to Greenport, a distance of about 100 miles.

The village of WILLIAMSBURGH, in the town of Bushwick, Long Island, is situated on the East River, (950 yards wide,) opposite Corlaer's Hook, and has intercourse with the city of New-York by ferries from the foot of Grand-street and Peck-slip. It is fast becoming a place of importance, being contiguous to New-York and Brooklyn. At present there are not many attractions for strangers or citizens as a place of resort, but it is susceptible of great improvements. Stages start twice a day for Newtown and Flushing, and the turnpike to Jamaica, leaves the village from North Second-street.

FLATBUSH, five miles from New-York, is a delightful place of residence; it is the seat of Erasmus Hall Academy, and was the scene of a sanguinary battle between the British and Americans in 1776. The spirit of improvement has, in the rapid progress it is now making, reached this delightful spot—a softer landscape than it presents is rarely met with. Its surface is an inclined plane, fifty feet above the level of the ocean, to which it has a regular and gradual descent. The air about it is tempered by the sea breeze, and its salubrity is almost proverbial.

FORT HAMILTON, situated at the Narrows, is also a delightful place of residence; being in sight of the ocean, it commands a view of all the shipping leaving and entering the harbour of New-York.

BATH, in the town of New-Utrecht, Long Island, nine miles south of Brooklyn, is a favourite place of resort for sea bathing. Here is a well kept public house, with a lawn fronting the bay, well shaded with trees, where the breezes of the ocean may be enjoyed during the heat of summer. This is the nearest watering place to New York; new accommodations have recently been erected which are within a short distance of the beach, and command a most beautiful prospect of the ocean.

At CONEY ISLAND, which is three miles from Bath, and is joined to Long Island by a bridge across a narrow inlet, is a fine beach for bathing, with a public house, and other conveniences. A rail-road is attached to the establishment, with cars leaving the hotel for the beach, a distance of eighty rods, every few minutes, during the summer season. The bathing at this place is not surpassed by any in the United States. The beach is white and hard.

JAMAICA, on Long Island, is a beautiful and flourishing town; having a village of the same name, eleven miles from Brooklyn, which is a place of importance, being the county town for Queen's County, and connected with Brooklyn by a rail-road, now in successful operation. The Long Island Rail Road, when completed, will make a continual road to Greenport, L. I., a distance of about one hundred miles. The Union Race Course is situated at the west end of Jamaica, about seven miles from Brooklyn, between the turnpike and Rail-road, and is a place of great attraction during the spring and fall races. Eight miles from Jamaica is ROCKAWAY, on the Atlantic Ocean, 20 miles from New-York. This is a favourite resort for sea bathing; the fine beach affording great advantages for that purpose. A splendid hotel (the Marine Pavilion) has been recently erected at this place; it is 230 feet in front, 3 stories in height, with two wings, and two magnificent piazzas; the front one extending the whole length of the mansion, 20 feet in width, ornamented with 28 Grecian columns. The rear piazza extends from one wing to the other, a distance of 150 feet. From the front is an unrivalled view of the Atlantic Ocean, and the numerous shipping passing Sandy Hook, to and from the Harbour of New-York.

STATEN ISLAND has long been a favourite place of resort. Steamboats leave several times during the day, from Whitehall-dock, and from piers No. 1 and 4, north side of the Battery, for the Quarantine Ground, Tompkinsville, New Brighton, and other places on the island.

For a further description of excursions to the different places of resort in the vicinity of the city of New-York, see "Guide to Environs."

In addition to the above routes, there is an inland water communication, via. the Delaware and Raritan, and Chesapeake and Delaware Canals. Vessels of a large burthen can pass through these Canals, which afford a safe conveyance between New-York, and the different places on the Chesapeake bay.

FIRE LIMITS.

By a recent act of the Legislature, the fire limits of this city are extended so as to include a large section before exempted from their operation. Under the new law, they will extend from the East River, near Rivington-street, in an irregular line, northwesterly, to between Twenty-first and Twenty-second street on the Second Avenue; thence west to the Sixth Avenue, and then continue in an irregular line south-easterly, to the Hudson River, near Hamersley-street.

FIRE DISTRICTS.

The city is divided into five Fire Districts, which are indicated by the striking of the City Hall bell as follows:

1st District—One stroke of the bell.

2d District—Two do do.

3d District—Three do do.

4th District—Four do do.

5th District—A continual ringing.

The first District is comprehended by a line from the foot of Murray street to the City Hall, and in a line parallel with the North River to 21st street.

The second District is bounded by the latter line, and a straight line from the Hall to the 3d Avenue at 21st street.

The third District is bounded by the latter and a line from the City Hall to the East River above the Dry Dock.

The fourth District is bounded by the latter and comprehends all the space between that and the East River as far down as Frankfort street.

The fifth District is all that part of the city below Frankfort and Murray streets.

EXPLANATION.

IN searching for the name of an individual, or a firm, in the CLASSIFIED MERCANTILE DIRECTORY, reference must be had to the business in which they are engaged, whether a Bookseller, Importer, &c. Many occupations are also divided under two or more heads, viz.—Merchant Tailors, and Tailors. First, find the occupation of a person, and then look for the name, all of which are arranged alphabetically.

As the publisher only feels bound to insert subscribers' names, and the principal concerns in New-York and Brooklyn, information in regard to whose business is of public utility to the stranger and citizen; some omissions, however, may have occurred,—if so, their names will be inserted in future editions, if desired.
